

West facing slope, Hyalite canyon

Date

Sun, 12/20/2020 - 14:00

Activity

Ice Climbing

We were ice climbing below Divide Peak today. I heard and saw a natural avalanche across the basin on the west facing slopes below Overlook Mountain, I also observed recent avalanche debris below “The G Spot” which is in a couloir below Overlook. Even though there isn’t any recent snow, the snow that is there is getting actively blown around.

Region

Northern Gallatin

Location (from list)

NORTHERN GALLATIN RANGE

Observer Name

Katie McKinstry