

Mt. Ellis

Date

Wed, 01/26/2022 - 10:00

Activity

Skiing

No signs of instability on Ellis. Approximately 4 inches of new snow from the last storm. Skiing was good. It is amazing how thin the snow pack remains. A quick pit north of the burn and approximately 300 vertical feet short of the summit was 70 cm deep with no obvious layers. There was moderate wind out of the west on the summit.

Region

Northern Gallatin

Location (from list)

Mt Ellis

Observer Name

David Combs