I am testing the "Submit Obs" platform, mainly the formatting, but that actual obs from today are real.

Allyson and I did a few laps inbounds at Bridger Bowl, then headed out the ridge to Saddle Peak. Allyson had never skied Saddle and was stoked to do it.

- Wind was strong on the ridge with gusts near 40 mph (I'm guessing), but it was manageable because temps were warm.
- There is no snow left to load on the west side.
- Skiing off the summit was good and chalky in most places with some softer, carvable pockets.
- Danger was Low.

I attached a pic from the top taken by the official @motogirlUSA. I just realized you can not send a movie on this form, just a link.
